

Call for Essays Submission Information

ThinkMillennium.com

Expanding the discussion and scholarly discourse on the topic of the Millennium as understood by members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Essay/Article Information

We are looking for 2,000 to 8,000 word essays/articles (4-15 pages) which are well reasoned, intellectually honest, and include scriptural or source references whenever possible.

All submissions must be in English, sent as a single PDF file, or Microsoft Word Document, formatted for 8.5" x 11" paper. Submissions should adhere to the Chicago Manual of Style. They may be single or double spaced. All accepted manuscripts are subject to editorial revision and shortening.

You assume personal responsibility for clearing any rights to photographs / illustrations and for any infringement of the U.S. Copyright Code. You also certify that you are the sole creator of this work, and have not substantially based it upon the work of any other person. Other contributions to this work should be cited appropriately.

By submitting your work, you agree to allow us nonexclusive rights to publish it as a part of a larger compilation with your appropriate credit line to appear in the publication. Authors retain copyright to their work.

We agree to send you a copy of any publication(s) containing your submission. Any distribution of royalties or other income received from such publishing would be based on common decency and fairness as well as mutual trust and shared equally between contributors after reimbursement of any publishing costs.

By submitting an article for publication, you confirm that you are the corresponding/submitted author and that we may contact you for the purpose of communicating with you about the article.

Submissions May Include, but are not Limited to:

- Writing about a specific discipline such as: art, architecture, philosophy, health, language, economics, temple work, journalism, law, urban planning, social order, government, transportation, the sciences, history, education, etc. (writing in general or specific about an area within the field).
- Or write about specific concepts such as: agency, diversity, language, family life, culture, transition, time. What changes? What stays the same? How does change in society, government, agency, morals, or other areas effect your field? If the roadblocks are removed, if budgets are increased, if knowledge and truth flow more freely - what does that do to improve, discover, implement or solve problems, or help create more perfect systems?

Surprise us - what haven't we thought about?

Remember, the goal is to speak to the idea of how these fields /concepts could possibly be played out under known doctrines about the Millennium. But do not be afraid to raise questions, be stumped, have no idea about some things or even come across uncertain or generalize under certain circumstances.

We are not trying to say this is how it will be, but rather draw some fairly logical outcomes, expand the thought processes, engage a reasonable imagination, open minds to possibilities and back those ideas up with citations, scriptures, or other possible evidences that come from the knowledge and experience in your field of specialty.

Please Attach a Title Page to Include:

- Title of Article
- Full name(s), academic degrees, and affiliations of authors
- Name, address, e-mail address, telephone numbers of corresponding author(s)
- List of key words
- Abstract, (less than 250 words)

For the Article Proper Include (as necessary):

- List of Abbreviations
- References
- Figure Legends

Timeline

You may submit early work, a rough draft, or an abstract at any time for review, feedback, or suggestions. We have actually been recruiting many scholars for articles and would love to talk to you before you finalize your topic and /or writing.

Final Deadlines for Submissions - May 1st, 2016.

Selection, Revisions, Editing - May through July, 2016.

First Printing - December, 2016.

Submissions & Questions

All aspects of the submission and notification process will be handled electronically. Submit all papers, questions and concerns to the editor - Rick Porter at Rick@ThinkMillennium.com 801-440-2330

All submissions will be acknowledged by email as soon as possible after receipt.